

Dear Mr. McGregor,

I am writing to you to thank you for your continued support. It means a lot and I truly appreciate it. As you know, school can be pretty hard, so this really is to have one less thing to worry about!

I'd like to give you a quick update as of where I am in school and how it is going. Currently I am in my third year and am pursuing mechanical engineering degree with an aerospace minor. I am as really looking forward to studying abroad in Germany through a program called, "Atlantis." Through this program I also get a degree in materials science engineering on top of mechanical engineering!

I am also maintaining a 3.2 GPA and expect that to go up this next term. I just recently accepted a position on the student board advisory council for the OSU budget. I represent the college of engineering and give my input as to how funds should be handled. I also enjoy participating in OSU's leadership academy, where I have been a member for over a year.

Sincerely,

Ben Johnson
